

The whimsical user interface design for this website with a content management system (CMS) creatively brings aviation industry clients to the services of Yellow Baron Graphics (www.yellowbaron.com). Content management provides optimal organization capabilities while providing the designer with freedom in publishing: images, text content and background search engine optimization (SEO). The images selected for display on this site show how an animated user interface compliments home page content and establishes a strong internet presence.
