Dear Katy, Love Dad - Book Jacket

»» One person between the father and daughter has been removed from the authors family photo.

»» The original black and white photo was converted to sepia tone to align with the time period of the story.

»» A mustache was added to the man, the authors grandfather, to provide him features resembling the author.

»» A letter, handwritten by the author on white paper was enhanced with lighting and color techniques to give it the appearance of an authentic historic document.

»» A seamless panorama (shown above) was created from random photos for reference in a study analyzing the measurement of snowpack and run off at Silver Dollar Lake.

On a hazy and cloudy day in the first days of July 2000 the Phantom Ship, moored on the West Side of Manhattan, was captured in this photograph. The Phantom Ship in its subtle blend with the city evokes as much awe as the replicas of historic ships that filled the waters. Digital software was used to manually customize the photograph to present an attractive and surreal image of the New York City shoreline.
