

YELLOW BARON GRAPHICS LLC
Design that Sells.

Client: Rocky Mountain Forest Products
Project: Web Site Design
Gif Animation
Photography

Product photography is the center feature for this home page and web site design by Yellow Baron Graphics. The three dimensional quality of continuous-grain pine moulding, in the photo below, leads the attention of the viewer from the product in the foreground to the important position of the business that stands behind their products.

This company is prepared to deliver products and serve the customer, as shown with the image of the loaded truck - an important focus of this web site design. The Rocky Mountains and the beautiful sky convey the desired message of location and compatibility among raw materials, renewable resources and environmental awareness.

The use of custom photos is important for representing a business accurately. A combination of photo sources was used for this web site, including client-supplied images.

Northern Colorado Business Report

CYBERSTARS:

FIRST RUNNER UP - Leading the runners-up is the Rocky Mountain Forest Products website, www.rmfp.net. The Wyoming business website was designed by Yellow Baron Graphics. The site employs colorful graphics, photos and is easy to read and navigate.

The Internet provides an economical opportunity to maximize color.

- » Customize your page content
- » Customize your identity
- » Creative copy placement
- » Font Selection
- » Color

The Environment and Customer Bill of Rights pages emphasize genuine attention to business practices and customer concerns. Images and layout compliment copy as a design element.